Kathleen Kisler and 100 Women in Hedge Funds Host Energy Discussion

Kathleen Kisler, Chair of the Education Committee for The Boston Chapter of 100 Women in Hedge Funds hosted a September event on the Energy Opportunity. The event featured two senior investors in the energy space, Dan Rice and Greg LeBlanc, who spoke to the current energy landscape as well as long term and short term implication to energy investing.

100 Women in Hedge Funds (100WHF) is a global industry association for professionals who work in the hedge fund and broader alternatives industry. Its three pillars are Industry Education, Philanthropy and Professional Leverage. The organization has hosted more than 400 education events globally. Its philanthropic mission focuses on three areas: mentoring, women's and family health, and education.
